A VALUABLE WORK -- We have a large supply of Dr. Kendall's back, "The Horse and His Diseases," one of the most valuable works for farmers to be found. It is a book of 100 pages, containing illustra-tions showing the appearance of the borse in every disease or nilmout to which he is subject, and by which any person can tell what complaint is affecting a sick horse. It also contains directions for the ment of all discusses, and recipes for making all kinds of medicines used in treating horses.

We have copies of the work in English, Gern and French. Every subscriber of the Chief who has sirendy paid in advance, or who may hereafter pay in advance, will be presented with a copy of this book, in the language he prefers, by calling at the office and applying for it, or sending a three cent marks of Judge McCreary on the corasion, indicated quite clearly his views of the matter. It was that, which he might, as a final result, be compressed that the bondholders ought to compromise. He said that the bondholders ought to compromise. He said that the return of the Commissioners disclosed the fact that they had made a landable and continued the ready builded indebtedness, and had partially succeeded, and as the Court thought it was very desirable that differences of such a character should be compromised and settled, and as nothing could be effectively done in the way of levying taxes to pay the judgment of plaintiff until August next, Jodge McCreary, upon consultation with Judge Foster, had decided not to make a final order in the case until the June term, 1983; and at said term, if the matter in difference was not compromised and settled, and as taid term, if the matter in difference was not compromised and settled, and as reflectively done in the way of levying taxes to pay the judgment of plaintiff until August next, Jodge McCreary, upon consultation with Judge Foster, had decided not to make a final order in the case until the June term, 1983; and at said term, if the matter in difference was not compromised and settled. This is especially to solution, and if the hadden to the mential of the litters was the purest, best and most that the remedy desidand is of the highest value. As soon as it had been tested and present the term of the litters was the purest, best and most it has the remedy desidant is of the highest value. As soon as it had been tested and proved by the whole world that the beneated that the purest of the law, his opinion was that the remedy desidant is of the highest value.
